AIM Focuses on Ecotourism for Global Network Week

One benefit of the Global Network for Advanced Management is that it gives students from throughout the network the ability to take advantage of the particular faculty expertise of a member school. At the Asian Institute of Management in Manila, faculty have made extensive study of ecotourism, examining how environmentally conscious investors can create profitable enterprises while preserving the country's pristine beaches, ecological preserves, and diving sites, which are among the world's best.

IIM Bangalore Announces the Appointment of Dr. Sushil Vachani as the New Director

During his twenty-eight year career at Boston University, where he was a tenured Professor of Strategy and Innovation, Dr. Sushil Vachani served in a range of leadership positions: Faculty Director of the International Management Program in Japan, Chairman of the Strategy and Policy Department, Chairman of the Doctoral Program and Special Assistant to the University's President for its India Initiative. He designed, taught and coordinated programs for students, executives and policy makers in the US, Japan, China and India. Dr. Vachani serves on the board of trustees of the Deshpande Foundation, which promotes economic and social development in the US and India through entrepreneurship.

Lagos Business School Dean Featured in Financial Times

In an article published on July 4, the Financial Times profiles Enase Okonedo, dean of Lagos Business School, as part of its "Meet the Dean" series. In the article, Okonedo discusses the challenges of running a business school in Nigeria, including convincing potential students to remain in Nigeria rather than studying abroad
